A CALMER GIFTING PRINTABLE

Cards You Owe

A birthday sneaks by, a thank-you waits three weeks, and the guilt gets louder than the kindness. This little tracker keeps every card — birthday, sympathy, thank-you, just-because — moving from your head to the mailbox.

How to use it

1. Any time a card occasion comes up — or slips past — add a row. No judgment; this sheet has seen everything.
2. Tick the boxes in order: card picked, words written, note sent.
3. Write the date sent, so you can stop carrying it in your head.
4. Use the Thank-You Note Templates sheet when the words won't start.
5. Keep page 3 handy: addresses at a glance, plus a drawer-stash tip.

What's inside

- Page 2 — the tracker: who, what occasion, and three friendly checkboxes.
- Page 3 — addresses at a glance and a few kind reminders.

> A kind note: a late card still counts. The person on the other end doesn't see the date you meant to send it — they see that you thought of them at all. Mail it whenever it's ready.

Print at 100% (“Actual size”), US Letter, portrait. Prints nicely in black & white. Personal use: print as many copies as you like.

Cards You Owe

Picked, written, sent. Three boxes between your heart and their mailbox.

Who	Occasion	Card picked	Written	Sent	Date sent
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐
		☐	☐	☐

Addresses at a Glance

Write them once here, and mailing day gets twice as fast.

Name & street	City, state, zip

The drawer stash (a small act of future kindness)

- Keep 3 blank cards, a book of stamps, and a working pen in one drawer.
- One birthday card bought early is one fewer “oh no” later.
- Batch it: pick five cards one evening, and the week writes itself.

Worth remembering: a “no reason, just thinking of you” card is the rarest kind — and usually the one people keep in a drawer of their own for years.