A CALMER GIFTING PRINTABLE

Kids Wish List

A wish list is a little piece of a kid's imagination on paper. This one gives them room to dream out loud — and gives grown-ups a clear, kind answer for relatives who ask, “So what do they want?”

How to use it

1. Print one sheet per child. Younger kids can dictate wishes and draw pictures; big kids can fill it in themselves.
2. Rank the wishes — number 1 first. The order tells you what really matters (and what's just commercial-break enthusiasm).
3. The “Why I'd love it” column is the magic one. It turns a list of stuff into a list of stories.
4. Share the sheet (or a photo of it) with grandparents, aunts, and uncles, or bring it along for holiday planning.
5. Grown-ups: pair this with the Gift Budget Tracker to match wishes with real numbers, kindly.

What's inside

- Page 2 — the wish list: name, biggest wish, and ranked wishes.
- Page 3 — more wishes, plus a grown-up corner for notes and surprises.

> A kind note for kids: every wish on this page is allowed to be big, small, silly, or shy. Wishes can change — that's not being fickle, that's being a person. And no matter what arrives, being thought of is already something wonderful.

Print at 100% (“Actual size”), US Letter, portrait. Prints nicely in black & white. Personal use: print as many copies as you like.

Kids Wish List

Dream it, rank it, share it. Print one for each kid.

This wish list belongs to: _____ Age: _____

My biggest wish of all:

_____

#	My wish	Why I'd love it	About how much $	Need / want
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8

More Wishes & a Grown-Up Corner

Because one page of wishes is never quite enough.

#	Another wish (big or tiny)	Anything else about it	About how much $
9
10
11
12

Something I could make, do, or learn instead

_____

_____

For grown-ups only (you may fold this corner over)

Surprise idea we're keeping quiet: _____

Relatives to share this list with: _____

Wish we can save for later (a growing-up fund, a big-kid bike):

_____

For grown-ups, gently: kids remember who sat with them, not what was in the box. A wish granted is lovely; a wish heard is better.